

Rowan Core/Rowan Experience Guidelines

ROWAN CORE - Incoming first-year students starting in fall of 2018 are required to follow the new Rowan Core/Rowan Experience general education model. The Rowan Core is based on six literacies (ability to think, understand and effectively work with information in given domain) that reflect contemporary priorities while maintaining a strong liberal arts foundation (see below).

Communicative Literacy	Scientific Literacy	Quantitative Literacy
Artistic Literacy (3cr)	Global Literacy (3cr)	Humanistic Literacy (3cr)

The Communicative, Quantitative and Scientific Literacy requirements are already accounted for in the engineering curriculum. The Artistic, Global and Humanistic Literacies are satisfied by courses the student select. These are annotated as Rowan Core Electives on your curriculum guide.

ROWAN EXPERIENCE – All students are also required to fulfill the Rowan Experience, which consists of Rowan Seminar (RS), Writing Intensive (WI), and Broad-Based Literature (LIT). RS is fulfilled by Freshman Engineering Clinic I; and WI is fulfilled by Senior Engineering Clinic. Students will select a Literature course from courses taken to fulfill the Rowan Core.

How to Identify Rowan Core Courses

A handy tool for searching courses each term is section tally (google Rowan Section Tally). You can narrow your search by various options. “Attribute” allows you to search courses with specific literacies or general education attributes, such as LIT.

Below is a sampling of Rowan Core Elective courses that fulfill Artistic, Global and Humanistic Literacies (the list is subject to change as new courses are added to the Rowan Core). Bolded courses fulfill the Literature Rowan Experience requirement. A searchable database of approved RC courses (as of Summer 2018) can be found here:
